

PULSARS- PROGRAM NOTE

Pulsars (PULSating stARS) emit powerful, regular pulsations of electromagnetic radiation. The observed periods of their pulses range from 1.4 milliseconds to 8.5 seconds.

We are surrounded by millions of very dense stars which constanly bombard us with continuous and regular pulsations of enormous energies at varying rates of "tempi".

RB